The Dreamless Sleep.

The necessarily brief announcement of the death of Laura B. Marsh, printed in the NEW MEXICAN on Saturday evening, saddened the Sabbath for many hearts in Santa Fe. Miss Marsh possessed in a rare degree the shining qualities of heart and head that attract and firmly attach friends, and during her ten years' residence in Santa Fe, had come to be known, appreciated and sincerely loved by all with whom she had come in personal contact from the humblest to the highest circles.

She was born in Plattsville, Wis.; happily passed her girlhood at school in the beautiful capital city of her native state; thence went with her family to Sheboygan, Wis. She early began to write short stories and sketches for her father's newspaper that soon attracted attention and gave promise of a bright career, and was stimulated and inspired by the sincere praise of her family and friends she faithfully and zealously began the difficult task of mastering the English language, seeking to know the exact shade of each word's meaning with as much care as the painter bestows upon his colors or the musician upon the delicate sounds that are blended into sweet harmony.

This conscientious and unflinching work bore fruit in a style of writing that was as delicate and refined as it was vigorous, vivacious and varied, and, possessing rare natural gifts of intellect and more than ordinary readiness with her pen, she soon became a welcome contributor to the daily press of Milwaukee and Chicago.

In the summer of 1881, Miss Marsh joined her brother in the conduct of the Morning Herald, at Durango, Colo., and there she not only rendered services of great value as a daily writer, but made the most of an exceptional opportunity to study life in a booming Rocky mountain town, which was the headquarters for hundreds of miners, cowboys, speculators and adventurers of all kinds. Among the results of these studies were the publication east of numerous vivid and touching character sketches, and stories, chief of which were "Overcoming a Storm," which was awarded a first prize of $500 by the Youth's Company for short stories of adventure, and a serial called "A Pine Tree's Shadow," which was first published in the Detroit Free Press and afterwards had quite a large sale in book form.

The subject of this sketch came to Santa Fe with her family in 1888, and has ever since made this city her home. Besides doing much good work with her pen for the Youth's Companion and other eastern publications, she faithfully and satisfactorily served as clerk in the United States land office under Judge Walker until the beginning of her long illness in the autumn of 1896. Since then she has done a surprising quantity of fine writing and leaves several manuscript stories that will doubtless be printed before long. She spent several months at the famous White City in Chicago, and her printed letters descriptive of the World's fair are preserved by many friends in this city.

She loved Santa Fe, and, after she realized that that money, skill and affection could do for her in Denver had been done, she preferred to return to her home here. After coming back last August she rallied somewhat and seemed very happy, but during the past few weeks she failed rapidly, and, on Saturday afternoon, passed peacefully "out of the clouds and mist into the perfect day."

She was truly a noble woman, whose integrity of character, fealty to truth and right, devotion to duty, earnestness of purpose, perfect freedom from guile and selfishness, tender sympathy, affection for her relatives and friends, and eager desire to do good to all with whom she came in touch were well known to all who knew her. The world is better for her having brightened it by her presence.

"Life, we've been long together. Through sunshine and through cloudy weather: 'Tis hard to part when friends are dear. Perchance 'twill cost a night or two. Then steal away, give little warning. Say not 'good night,' but in some happier clime. Bid me 'good morning.'"

The ones peculiarly and unspeakably bereaved by this mournful event are the mother and the brother and his family in this city: Mrs. George T. Sumner, of Denver, the sister who has tenderly ministered at the dear one's bedside for many months; Mrs. E. A. Wilson, another sister, at whose house in Denver Miss Marsh spent much of last year; Judge Sumner and Mr. Wilson; Charles M. Sumner, a nephew in Denver; Helen M. Sumner, a niece in Wellesley college, and Mollie Morton Marsh, another niece, at school in Monroe, Mich.

The funeral will take place from the home of Mrs. J. L. Marsh on Manhattan avenue at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the precious body will be placed at rest by the side of the father who has gone before in Fairview cemetery.

TO CURE NERVOUS DYSPESPIA.

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean, Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Interesting Experience of An Indianapolis Gentleman.

No trouble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think that their nerves are to blame and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicine and spring remedies; the real seat of the mischief is lost sight of; the stomach is the organ at fault.

Nervous dyspepsia often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ; in some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of flesh and appetite, with accumulation of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, of No. 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows: "A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for the last four years; have used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable result. They sometimes gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, being a bookkeeper with little physical exercise, but I am glad to state that the tablets have overcome all these obstacles. For I have gained in flesh, sleep better and am better in every way. The above is written not for notoriety, but is based on actual fact." Respectfully yours,

A. W. Sharper, 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind. It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplessness, palpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.

Send for valuable little book on stomach diseases by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. All druggists sell full sized packages at 50 cents.

DUCAL CITY HAPPENINGS.

The New Mexican's Esteemed Special Correspondent at Albuquerque Continues His Good Work.

Special Correspondence New Mexican. Albuquerque, Jan. 16, 1898. — The funeral of Samuel B. Dunlap will take place from the Grand Central hotel, on Monday afternoon. Interment will be in the local cemetery.

Elmer Weir, the boy, who accidentally shot himself while handling a pistol, was buried at Los Lunas yesterday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Weir, of this place, went there to attend the funeral.

Young Weir had secured the pistol from his guardian's house, and was practicing shooting at a target with some youthful companions. The weapon becoming disarranged in some manner, he took it to the house to fix it. Shortly after, his friends heard the report of the shot that killed young Weir, and they ran home, fearing that they might be implicated in some manner with his death. Thus it was that Mr. Vigil found the boy's body alone in the house. The Albuquerque Guards gave their monthly hop, on last Friday evening, when the so-called "drill down," which has been some time in preparation, was introduced. It might be likened to a spelling bee, the various maneuvers of the drill being gone through with, the participants being removed as fast as mistakes were made, until but one soldier remained. This was Corporal Alger, and he was duly credited with the honors of the occasion.

The ladies of St. John's Episcopal church will meet, on Tuesday afternoon, for the purpose of reorganizing the guild of the church.

Rev. E. H. Ashmun, of the Congregational church, has gone to Prescott, A. T., to extend the work of the Congregational mission.

There is some talk of a possibility of the closing of the Children's Home, in this city, because of insufficient funds to run the institution. As some of the young occupants are charges from other counties in the territory, there is a belief felt that these counties should interest themselves more in the home and contribute to its support. It is hoped here that means will be forthcoming to insure the dependent children a place of refuge in the institution here.

Yardmaster H. D. Hosmer, who recently resigned from his position in the yards here, is now at Winslow, acting as a freight conductor. Frank Palmer has been promoted to Mr. Hosmer's former place.

Miss Anita Otero and brother, Thomas Otero, entertained a party of young friends at their home on Saturday afternoon.

George Thorpe of Minneapolis, is in the city and hopes to interest a sufficient number of people, with capital, to build a sanitarium for the treatment of consumptive patients with a pneumochemic cure.

Frank Whitted, who secured the honors and the best average at the recent competitive examination for a cadetship at the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., has departed for that place to enter a preparatory school in that city.

An amputation was performed on Saturday on the leg of Frank Gilmore, of this place, who has been a sufferer with a bone affection in the limb for some time.

A new railroad order has gone into effect, whereby the conductors on the northern run from here have been limited to Las Vegas instead of La Junta as formerly. Conductors Stevenson, Caryle and Hayes will have charge of the trains.

Abe Shaft Completed at White Oaks.

The Abe shaft at White Oaks is completed, and is 806 feet deep, says the Eagle. This piece of work has been done in less than three months and is the most remarkable time ever made in this country. Everything about the shaft is first class in every particular. The forces are making a station at the 800 foot level preparatory to starting a drift to the ore. The Abe was for some time the life of White Oaks, paying out thousands of dollars every month, and the major portion of it was spent at home, as all of the principal owners live here. With some new arrangements at the top the Abe will be in better condition than ever before. The shaft is in solid ground and heavily timbered, and the principal workings will be 50 or 60 feet from the new shaft and no cave ins need ever be apprehended in the future.
